

Why is an Atlantic steamship like a horse's collar? It goes over the main, (mane)

Why is an auctioneer like a man with an ugly countenance? Because he is always for-bidding.

Why should a father refrain from marrying? Because if he got a wife, his principles would not permit him to support her.

Why is a young lady just from a boarding school like a building committee? Because she is ready to receive proposals.

Why are good resolutions like fainting ladies? They want carrying out.

Why is my opponent when he thinks he has made a good joke like a jelly? Because he is "sucked in."

A very clever conundrum was that which took a prize at Philadelphia some years since: In what manner did Capt. May cheat the Mexicans? He charged them with a troop of horses which they never got.

From the "Gambus."

"AND THEN?"

"Altho' I told proudly his hopes and plans, In his own strong hand all his future drew,
The calm old man, earth-tired Heaven-bound, He answered from all that his great heart knew,
Only these words: 'And then?'

With a steady foot and a willing hand Will climb to Earth's treasure hold, And claim my share of the wealth she hoards For her favored—the brave and the bold:—
'And Then?'

Should you but fill your coffers at will,
And hold of Earth's treasures a share—Should you but claim Heroical fame, And Wisdom—to mete and to spare;—
What then?

If wealth were mine own, I'd claim it alone—The homage to princes e'er due, While wisdom should pay its tribute for aye And praise should its plaudits renew:—
'And Then?'

When youth shall forsake me, when age shall overtake me,
And honor my years shall have crowned;
When my race shall be run, my mission be done,
And I at Death's threshold be found,—
What Then?

The old Laurel wreath I fair would bequeath To children who love me,—and I, Then weary with life, relinquish the strife, As others before me shall—die;—
'And Then?'

Full edged in golden light, A hatching out the little stars,
The chickens of the night.

But out of all that brilliant brood, Produced by Lunna pale,
There was but one poor little chick That could display a tail.

A French engineer was traveling upon an old Ohio steamboat. He examined the boiler, and took occasion to remark that it was in a bad condition.

"That's so," answered the captain.

"How long do you expect to use it."

"Till it bursts!" was the cool reply.

After the next landing place there was one Frenchman

When the brain is weary, And the heart is sick—O'erpre-ssed with cares,
And the cold world looks dreary—all dreary, O God, thou hearest our prayers!

When friends and hopes are fled,
And none are left to soothe our wounded hearts,
And all our loved ones mingle with the dead, Thy love its joy imparts.

When sorrows deep surround,
And the mixed cup is full of bitter woe,
And all silently from out each deep wound,
The life streams ceaseless flow—

Thou art the same. Our trust Is in thy providence, and in thy hand Is all we have and are—for moth and rust Do waste the golden sand.

We flee to thee, and weep When troubles dark surround us, and we see Our frail bark foundering on the stormy deep,
And pray in agony.

O God, thou hearest prayer, When from the troubled heart it goeth up.
Like incense floating on the midnight air,
To him who drank the cup.

THE EDITOR'S DREAM.

Editor sat by his desk one day, In the beautiful month of June;
A pile of papers before him lay,— And he carelessly whistled a tune.
The window was up and a breath of air, Played soft round his aching brow;
And he slowly settled back in his chair, What! he's dozing already I trow—He sleeps, and a dream o'er his fancy now steals, As he sits in that easy chair;
And the joys and the comforts the vision reveals, Oh! say shall I enter them here?— (For alas the poor man when he wakes from his sleep, And tugs at his half-open eyes; Shall find that he's nought but an Editor yet, And is doomed to be one till he dies—) He thought that his labors and troubles were o'er,
And he;—settled down at his ease;
And now printers and papers should vex him no more,
For he'd do, and say just as he please—But the way that he thus independent he'd got,
Was just this and no other I trow;
He thought that the people planked cash on the spot For their papers just as they do now But at length to his feelings he gave such a vent To describe it, indeed I'll not try, But he kicked up his heels, on the case smash they went
And knocked all the type into PIE.

"Yes, I don't."

A skeptic thinks it very extraordinary that an ass once talked like a man. Isn't it still more extraordinary that thousands of men are continually talking like asses?

A young blood of Buffalo recently "woo'd and won" a fair damsel all on the sly, and induced her at length to consent to a runaway match. On the day appointed for celebrating the nuptials he sent a gail caparisoned hack driver after his betrothed, who succeeded in insinuating himself into the good graces of the young lady to that extent that she married him in less than half an hour after seeing him.

Of all the funny things that live, In woodland, marsh, or bog,
That creep the ground or fly the air,
The funniest is the frog—The frog—the scientifickest Of nature's handiwork—
The frog, that neither walks nor runs, But goes it with a jerk.

With pants and coat of bottle green,
And yellow fancy vest,
He plunges into mud and mire—All in his Sunday best.
When he sits down he's standing up,
As Paddy O'Quinn once said;
And for convenience' sake he wears His eyes on the top of his head.

You see him sitting on a log, Above the "vasty deep;"
You feel inclined to say, "Old chap, Just look before you leap!"
You raise your cane to hit him on His ugly-looking mug;
But ere you get it half-way up, Adown he goes kerchug.

It is an economical reflection that when garments are too short, the difficulty may be remedied by wearing them longer.

Buds.—Do not pluck those beautiful and fragrant buds, but let them expand into the full blown flower. And why not? They are beautiful and very fragrant, and if left to expand their fragrance will soon depart their fresh tints will be lost, & the chilly win-of evening will scatter their leaves, or the noonday sun will destroy them. God often plucks the buds in the midst of their beauty and fragrance, before they expand and perish. We miss them from the parent stem, but still remember them only in that exquisite freshness in which they were taken from our gaze.

291 Days Remarks Monday 18th this day we have the weather line and calm at 8th AM took my small Boat with two men Isaac Elexer and Josiah Miller and went on shore for the purpose of getting some Pring or Leary the ship in charge of the first officer at about 2 o'clock or 2 I took my Boat and started for the ship and coming around the point out of the small Bay called Lagoon I met a canoe with 3 men Portiques in it and told me that 3 men had swam on shore and was to a house about a half mile distant from where I was I went to the house and took a man who said that he was an American to tell the men to come and get on board with me this man had been with me to talk the language on account of my not understanding it my self. he went and the men soon came in sight down the Rocks and went in to the water telling the man that they would go back as they came. the names of the men was George Baker Joseph Hoffman and H. A. Curtis. I lay still in my Boat to see how they would succeed in getting on board having my doubts about their reaching the Ship she being over a mile from the shore I lay for 1 hour think a full hour and saw that the six took them far astern of the Ship and I could see that Baker could never reach the Ship without help I started and pulled for him and when I got to him told him to get into the Boat he got in and I told him that he could never have reached the Ship he said that he could have swam twice the distance the next I came to was Hoffman I asked him to get into the Boat and he said that he could swim on board I told him this came to Curtis and seeing that he could get to the Ship without any trouble I passed by him and said nothing to him I went on board the ship and asked the Mate Mr. Townsend

go on shore he told me that he called them to come back but they made no reply and went on shore I then told the mates to hoist in the Boat which I had been on shore in and put her on the Round house over head while doing this Melvin Gardner came to me and asked if we had not better go after Hoffman and fetch him on board I told him that he wanted no help and said no more about the time the Boat was done with I heard the Cook talking loud forward by the Main Hatch and went forward to find what he was jawing about he told me something about somebody but I don't remember what it was I left him and told him at the same time not to speak for I had trouble enough without his making any more he gave a snuff and grin as I left him at this time there was two Casks alongside with some Oranges and while the men was taking them out Baker took hold of a Basket and slung it down on deck and the fruit flew around the deck I told him to clear out and go forward and let the oranges alone and he left with an ugly look and went off grumbling I said no more to him after this I was washing the Deck aft the starboard side and the Malls and Boat Stems was drawing the Oil to pay for the things I had bought about the time I was washing the Deck the Cook began to wash the Deck and the Malls and Boat Stems

The Bell and asked him why the hell he did not strike it right. I told him to stop his noise and the more I told him the more he had to say and I found that there must be something done to obtain any thing like Peace in the Ship. I therefore thought to put him in Irons and put him below the deck but before I left him George Baker and L. H. Curlett Came on to the Quarter deck the Starboard side where the Cook was and faced me with their arms folded and looked as if they would go through me I knew that they was after me good by their looks. I thought for a moment or two and concluded that I had better get ready to defend myself and I left these men without saying a single word to them and went into the Cabin. I took my gun and loaded it with a Ball after snapping a Cap to be sure that she would not miss fire in case I should be forced to use her little thinking that I should have to while I was doing this I heard shouting on deck and being afraid of trouble I charged my Rifle also I took the Rifle and a Cutts and gave them to the Cooper at the foot of the Cabin steps and told him to hand them to me if I should call for them he said that he would. I then took my gun and set it on the upper step of the gangway and went on deck. I saw the second Mate and the Boatswain in the waist on the Starboard side. I told them that if they was on my side I would

They came and 2 or 3 of the foremost hands I looked forward the starboard side and saw a croude of men coming aft and not knowing what they might do I went and took my gun and went forward as far as the steering hatch by this time the men had got to the main hatch I told them not to come aboard the mainmast in peril of their lives for I would shoot the man that did they however paid no regard but kept on coming they past the mainmast and Curtis was ahead I told him George I am cool and so shure as you come your are a dead man by this time the shot fire became so loud that I began to get alarmed the cry was as high as I can remember fire fire you cannot kill but one by this time then had got a rest of the gally I saw that I must kill a man or turn my back and run I began to get confused and cried out my God. George stop another step and you are a poor a dead man he advanced and I fired to defend my one life the man was killed instantly and fell to the deck as the smoke cleared a bit the Cook made a lunge for me and struck with something at the same time I struck him on the head with my gun and knocked one of the thumbbolts off he gave back and I saw Joseph Hoffman bolt at me with the pumpbroke and at the same time one of the lubber spails smashed across the steering hatch to him on the Cook I saw some one have a hand spike but being so confused I could not tell who it was the officers and Boatswains said afterwards it was Baker I saw George see begin to hold some of them back but could not I was first to fleet aft and take my Rifle and tell them to keep back and they soon began to come too. And began to cry out Captain you have killed a man and you will be hung Baker in particular you are a murderer hanging is to go for you after this they went around the deck and said that I should never touch the body they would take charge of it themselves I did not go near it for fear of more trouble. they soon took it forward William Gardner said that they would never take the anchor under me and spoke rough and insulting words to the Mate. By this time it was near night and I was advised by my men aft to go on shore and make known what had happened I told them that I would go if they would keep charge of the ship they said that they would and thought that Mr Townesend had better go with me on account of the ill will they had towards him I took one of the Boats and 4 men with the Mate and went on shore the names of these men was Isaac Cleaver Peter Coleman Thomas Fitzgerald and George F.

Brewster after getting on shore I went to the house of Mr Donald Sutherland a respectable Coffee Merchant for his advice how to proceed concerning what had happened he told me that he did not know any thing about the course I ought to pursue and directed me to go to Mr William Platt who was the English Consul and he would be the most suitable man to give me instructions this was about dark he gave me a letter of introduction and I started attended by Mr Townsend and a man by the name of William Morfet who lived at the same house we arrived to Mr Platts at 9 oclock P.M. I told him what had happened and he told me that I had better go to John Pedro who was governor of the place and get my clearance from his place as quick as possible and proceed to Rio Janeiro

I took a few minutes rest and then started back about 11 oclock and before we got half way thro the day on which this sad affair took place came out and I commenced another we arrived to Mr D. Sutherland at about 2 oclock P.M. called the men and started for one Mr Chambers and English men to whom Mr Platt had directed me to speak the language we got there about daylight in the morning took him in and started for John Pedro and arrived there just after sunrise I made the case known and he sent me to the city called Angara I was there taken before a Justice and he sent wrote a letter and sent me back to John Pedros again they then told me that I must go to the Island and get some boddy to hold an Inquest over the Boddy and have thes Mutenears put in Irons and Confined I told John Pedro that there was no <sup>one</sup> ~~body~~ on the Island who could do any such thing and requested him to go to the city with me him self and he did they kept me until 3 o'clock <sup>P.M.</sup> and sent me out board to bring the dead man on shore and wanted to know if I could confine the men on board I told them that I would try and left them for the ship with my men and W<sup>m</sup> Morfett and got on board about 5 P.M. and found that Mr Eldredge had sent the boddy on shore to be Buried I found every thing on board still and quiet I told the mates that we would put the Cook Joseph Hoffman and George Baker in Irons I called the Cook first he came and had them on without resistance I next called Hoffman and put the on to him he wanted to know what I did this for I said not much to him and put them on I called Baker next and put them on to him after we had got them below one in each hatch way I took a few mouthfuls and started back for the City and got there about 8 o'clock P.M. leaving the ship in Charge of the mate this night I went to the Justice and told him that the man was Buried and asked him if he must be taken up again and he Said now I stayed on shore all night and the next day at about one or two o'clock <sup>Aug 20th</sup> got my Cessar and started for the Island to land Moorjet and after doing that went to the Ship and got on board just at dark the weather being dead Calm I made no attempt to get the Ship underway
